Funeral services for Lucinda M. Vinchester, beloved wife of George H. Day F. Lovett, 71 years of age, who ives on West Main street, East Great Plain, died suddenly in Franklin square at quarter before 5 o'clock Friday af-ternoon. He had driven in to town ternoon. He had driven in to town from his home near the Backus corner, which he purchased from Charles A. Gager, Sr., two years ago, when he first came to live in Norwich, and was planning to meet his son, Charles H. Lovett, who was on his way to spend Christmas here from Knoxville, Tenn. service at the grave. The attendance was large and there were numerous beautiful floral tokens of esteem. Undertaker C. A. Gager, Jr., had harge of the funeral, Christmas here from Knoxville, Tenn. The 4.40 train, on which the son was due, was late, and Mr. Lovett went in to the store of R. F. Smith to buy some groceries. He talked and acted naturally in the store, but he seemed to waver as he walked out to his buggy, and when he got into the wagon he left one foot hanging outside the body. Mr. Lovett started to drive down through Franklin square, and opposite the To Sell Thames Loan and Trust Notes In the Thames Loan and Trust company case authority to compromise notes of the Aetna Construction com-pany and of S. CHRIST CHURCH

CHRISTMAS FESTIVAL Children Have Carol Service Followed by Distribution of Gifts.

The children of Christ church Sunday school held their Christmas fes-tival at the church on Friday after-moon at 4.20 o'clock, with a carol service which was followed by the dis-tribution of gifts. At the carol service Rev. Richard R. Graham, rector of the church, gave the young people a brief tal kon Christmas. There were two Christmas trees, one or the gifts which the children for the gits which the children brought for those less fortunate than themselves and the other for the gifts presented the children of the Sunday gschool by their teachers. Each child received a gift and a box of candy. The Christmas decorations brought a counter-suit for $1,000 for in charge of the gifts. Miss Osgood was assisted by the teachers of the Michael Pounch, a policeman, testipresided at the organ during the carol
